SPECIAL EDITION

"REAL USE OF ARRAY DATABASES FOR RESEARCH COMMUNITIES"

Working Group Workshop
17th May 2017 - Amsterdam

Are you a community or technology expert working with Array Databases?

Then don't miss out our upcoming free workshop on the "Real use of Array Databases for Research Communities", taking place on Wednesday 17th May 2017 from 9.30am until 5pm in Amsterdam, Netherlands.

Christian Pagé (CERFACS) and Luca Trani (KNMI) will introduce a broad and fair discussion about the real use of Array Databases, which are common data structures widely used in many scientific disciplines.

The working group workshop will aim at:

- understanding the view of the scientific communities
- discussing benefits and limitations of these technologies
- targeting technology experts, representatives of research communities and practitioners.

The workshop is free to attend and can welcome up to 20 participants (remote participation is also available).
