EUDAT Conference: Putting The EOSC Vision Into Practice, 22-25 January 2018, Porto, Portugal (/Eudat-Conference-Putting-Eosc-Vision-Practice-22-25-January-2018-Porto-Portugal)

From the 22nd to the 25th of January 2018, the city of Porto (Portugal) will host the next EUDAT Conference entitled "Putting the EOSC vision into practice" (<https://eudat.eu/events/conferences/save-the-date-eudat-conference-putting-the-eosc-vision-into-practice>).

Gathering community decision-makers and data managers, scientists & research communities, policy-makers, e-Infrastructure initiatives, research infrastructures and ESFRI projects, the EUDAT Conference will:

- Discuss the progress of the European Open Science Cloud (EOSC) and the European Data Infrastructure (EDI) and the role of infrastructures like EUDAT within these two initiatives.

- Showcase the latest trends in data infrastructure and data management solutions for research and report on the status and future plans for cross e-infrastructure collaboration, with an overview of the newly-funded H2020 initiatives;
- Analyse the impact of the forthcoming GDPR regulation on the EOSC landscape;
- Inform on the tangible opportunities offered by the newly-established EUDAT Collaborative Data Infrastructure (CDI) to the service providers and research communities and the principles for engagement of these actors in the EOSC;
- Demo the solutions developed by EUDAT to meet the data management needs of researchers and research communities, through real pilots and describe the EUDAT service roadmap;
- Discuss the role of user engagement and training in the EOSC

The main programme is complemented by a series of co-located workshops, organised by GÉANT (<https://www.geant.org/>), EOSCPilot (<https://eoscipilot.eu/>), AARC (<https://aarc-project.eu/>), SeaDataCloud (<https://www.seadatanet.org/About-us/SeaDataCloud>), ENVRI (<http://envri.eu/>) and many other initiatives!
